Cricket is supposed to have taken its origin from an aucient game of club balt which was played with a straight bat but without wickels. In an ancient manuscript, dated 1344, a female is represented in the act of throwing a ball to the batsman, who elevates his bat to strike it, while

The Attempted Escape of Dr. Mudd NEW YORK, Oct. 8 -The Herald's Fortress Monroe correspondence has the following particulars of the attempt to escape made by Dr. Mudd. as heretofore published: The Doctor enjoyed unusual liberties on the Island through his being detailed in the Hospital Department. Through the advantage of this liberty he managed to secrete himself in one of the coal bunkers of the steamer Thomas Scott. When he was found to be missing, a most thorough search of the steamer was instituted to find him, and the search was very near abandoned and the idea of his concealment on it given up, when an officer who was assisting in the search thrust the point I his sword into the Doctor's face, causing him to cry out, and thereby make known his place of concealment. The Doctor lay wholly hid under the coal, except a portion of his face. On his discovery he was taken back to prison and put at hard labor, which occupation he is likely to follow for some time. The Quartermaster of the Thomas Scott was subsequently arrested on the charge of complicity in aiding Dr. Mudd to escape. There has been no change in the disposition of the other assassination conspirators.

> THE PENTAN EXCITEMENT. The Times' London letter, September 87th, as the following relative to the Feuian exeitement; Some tifty arrests have been made in public, nearly as many in Cork, and a few in Liverpool, and some of the manufacturing towns, Lancaster among the rest, and a few Irish Americans; and for others rewards of £200 and £100 are offered .. Oue Murphy, from Boston, on being arrested, said he should represent his case to Mr. Seward. On the mere mention of that name, he was set free by the authorities at Dublin Gastle. The panic at Cork and other towns in the Southwest has not diminished. There have

A gunboat was cruising of Cork Harbor to intercept a Yankee ship, said to be on its way to Ireland with arms for the Feniane. Two officers of the Cork garrison bave been arrested, and there are rumors that a consider able portion of the garrison are sworn Feniana. There is a lively demand for firearms by those who mean to defend themselves. A notable feature of the affair is the humble rank of those who have been arrested—they are small tradesmen, clerks, citizens, &c. The most conspicuous of the prisoners in Dablin is a tailor, the chief informer against the Penians, who appears to have been one who had been advanced to the grade of Colonel in the great Fenian army, but having no pay, rations or forage suitable to his rank, had been suffered left. All operations at exchange have ceased to go to the workhouse. This unfortunate dignitary, brooding over his wrongs, concluded that low treason to his associates would be more profitable than high treason against our Sovereign Cor.
